"I enjoy figuring out how to make things work better. I'm a problem solver who cares about crafting products and experiences that are useful, useable, and delightful. Born in Sicily and based in Amsterdam.

Resume

Passionate about visual design, since 2007 I've been involved in several projects creating graphics for web, app, games, brand image and printing.

My career began as freelance after high school (in graphic design), in 2012 I start to work at "Studio Creativo" a creative agency based in Italy, I was in charge of visual and graphic design for both printing and web projects.

In 2013 I had the opportunity to be teacher in graphic design in a high school, starting to see my job also from another prospective, organizing and supervising the multimedia laboratory of the institute, helping students to practically apply skills through real projects for pilot clients.

In 2014 I joined "Wiralist" an Italian startup based in Italy, I was responsible the UX and UI of the project for 1 year, and I had the opportunity to work with a solid team of senior.

In late 2015 I decided to move to London to study English and have new experiences, working for "Domus LTD" I was in charge to handle seven corporate branding communications around different countries taking care of the e-commerce.

In September 2017, I decided to move again to a more stimulating city with new perspectives, Amsterdam, starting to work at "Spotzer" as a Web designer, partner with more than 30 resellers, including some of the world's largest yellow page publishers and media groups.

In July 2018 I start working as a Lead UX/UI designer for a startup "Yabbu" a SaaS project based on improvement of the meetings with focus on public organization.
